

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
AND TO THE PROFESSION

Books of documents

During the course of appeals, parties from time to time submit to the Court books of documents as well as books containing case law and statutes. These books are prepared to facilitate the trial process. The presentation of books of documents and case books is vital to the trial process and the Court encourages their production.

Where the contents of such books exceed 10 pages, their contents shall be indexed and their pages shall be numbered consecutively. Cases and documents shall be separated by tabs, each tab identified either numerically or alphabetically.

Dated this 23rd day of February 2010.

Gerald J. Rip
Chief Justice – Juge en chef